

Management/Sales Recruitment Services

Have you ever felt as if your Human Resources Department doesn't really have the time to focus on your recruitment? Have you ever had the experience where working with the recruiter was more work than doing the search yourself? Does your recruiting effort feel as if you are climbing a mountain, but will never get to the top? If so, Corporate Health Group has a solution for you.

We've walked in your shoes and have managed people in management and sales positions for many years. As a result, we know what to look for and can assist you in finding just the right person to fill your need.

- We act on your behalf, representing you and your Human Resources department to qualified candidates.
- We make the search easy for you.
- We save you time by screening and matching candidates to your organization.
- We manage the communication process for you.

What could be better than interviewing only a pool of candidates with the right qualifications, and in a reasonable timeframe? If you're ready for a new experience in recruiting, give us a call.

Why is finding a partner like CHG the right move for your recruitment needs?

- Targeted sourcing
- Customized to your needs
- Fully screened candidates
- Insights into organizational fit
- Manage communications between you and the candidates
- Post-hire coaching support
